Attorney-General Tells Governor Candidates Should Be Selected at Primary.

Attorney-General McAllister in Jefferson City yesterday announced that he had prepared an opinion for Gov. Gardner on the election laws affecting the nomination and election of United States Senators, holding that a vacancy will exist the night of election day in the seat held by Senator Wilfley, who was appointed to succeed the late Senator Stone, and that a special election should be called to be held the same day as the general election in November. Candidates, he said, should be selected at the August primary.

Although McAllister had not previously given a formal opinion, he has stated the same views in newspaper interviews.

FEDERAL DIRECTOR FOR EACH RAILROAD

McAdoo Considering Appointments Following His Ouster of All Presidents.

WASHINGTON, May 22 (By A. P.) .- Regional directors of the Railroad Administration were instructed today by Director-General McAdoo to recommend immediately Federal directors for every railroad, to be responsible only to the Railroad Administration, to replace railway presidents as chief operating officers. Pending these appointments the present managing staffs will continue in

The Director-General's plan announced yesterday contemplates the appointment of a Federal director for each road and wherever possible the director will be appointed from among the operating officials of the property as a means of safaguarding the interests of the stockholders and maintaining the railroad's individuality. In many cases the president of the road will be named Federal di-rector and steps will be taken to avoid disrupting any road's working organization unnecessarily. Creation of two new operating districts also were authorized by the Director-General as part of the reorganization. One is the Allegheny organization. One is the Allegneny district, consisting of the principal trunk lines east of Pittsburg, excluding the New York Central, to be managed by C. H. Markham, now regional director for the South. The other is the Pocahontas district, consisting of East and West trunk lines terminating at Hampton Roades. Regional directors of the Pocahontas and Southern district will be anounced shortly.

Paid by Government.
The Federal directors' salaries will be paid by the Government, and they can receive no pay from the railway corporations. As an indi-cation of what salaries they may expect, it became known that most of Mr. McAdoo's principal assistants will receive more than $15,000 a year. For most of them this is much less than they received as officers or executives of railroads under private management. McAdoo, as Secretary of the Treasury, receives the usual Cabinet member's salary of $12,000 a year, and is paid nothing as director-general of railroads.

The director-general's announcement of the new policy, dictated from his sick room at home, said: "In view of the direct responsibility for the operation of the rail-roads of the country placed upon Director-General McAdoo by the act of Congress and by the proclamation of the President, he has been unto escape the concern that it will be advisable to place in direct charge of each property for oper ating purposes a representative to be known as the Federal manager, who vill report to the regional director.

"Except so far as may be neces sary to meet the emergency condi-tions which compel the Government to take control of the railroads, the Federal manager of each railroad will endeavor to avail himself to the fullest extent of the advantages incident to the operation of the par-ticular railroad as a unit and the preservation of its identity.

Boards to Be Consulted.

"While in this way the responsibility for the operation of the property will be directly to the regional directors and not to the boards of directors, it is the purpose of the director-general to accord to the boards of directors and their repre-sentatives the fullest opportunity to keen advised as to the operation and improvement of the properties and to maintain with the director-general and the regional directors the fullest interchange of views as to what is m the best interest of the Govern-ment and of the stockholders.

"In the development of this pol-icy the regional directors and also the Federal managers will be required to sever their official rela-tions with the particular and to become exclusive representative of the United States railroad administration. The first moves in the inau-guration of this policy will be through the creation of two new regions to be known as the Alle-gheny region and the 'Pocahontas re-

Prayers and Dollars

Let us do more at home than pray for those "over there."

Prayers alone will not stop the blood flowing from frightful wounds.

Prayers alone will not pass the cup of succor to parched throats of men perishing with thirst.

Prayers alone will not clothe ragged and nearly nude women and children, or feed them.

Prayers alone will not restore or rebuild the homes that have been razed or afford shelter to suffering humanity in a war-ridden country.

Let us pray that we have strength—willing hands and money to give to these things.

That long arm of mercy, the Red Cross, with its thousands of workers, are your willing hands, and while we are praying here for those good souls "over there"—let's give our dollars so our prayers will not be in vain.

We have been getting the trend and the fact that crepe scrim Dresses are to be the leader, direct from the birth-place of correct fashions. We see now their assured popularity and practicality and serviceability for Summer sports, street and shore. They're the thing—the Dress of the hour. We illustrate 10 of the styles—but the beauty of color is lost in the picture. We can't show the charm of the bright rose, the sunflower yellow, the soft lavender, the Golden Gate sunset, the rich greens, the subdued blues, the new iceland moss, the ripe encumber and many other colors of latest fashion.

Then there are the still prettier combinations—white with rose, white with green, and Copen. and maize, and lavender—and one color combined with another. The yarn embroidery must be seen to know how pretty it is. The self and contrasting yarn and braid embroidery, braid binding, fancy braided pockets, rows of pearl buttons, lingeric collars, wash satin collars, wide braid girdles, patent leather belts and so on, almost without end, style after style, each one with something to it that makes it still prettier than the one before.

DESCRIBES LIBERTY MOTOR IN DETAIL

Authorized Statement in Official Bulletin Tells How Parts and Sizes of Engine Were Agreed Upon.

The War Department, in a state-tent in The Official Bulletin, gives technical description of the Liberty Motor, its parts, method of lubri-cation, etc. The statement follows: The designs of the parts of the Liberty engine were based on the following:

Cylinders.—The designers of the cylinders for the Liberty engine followed the practice used in the German Mercedes, English Rolls Royce, French Lorraine-Dietrich, and Italian Isotta Fraschini before the war and during the war. The cylinders are made of steel inner shells surrounded by pressed-steel water jackets. The Packard company by long experient, had developed a method of applying these steel water jackets.

The valve cages are drop forgings welded into the cylinder head. The principal departure from European practice is in the location of the holding-down flange, which is sev eral inches above the mouth of the cylinder, and the unique method of manufacture evolved by the Ford company. The output is now approximately 1700 cylinder forgings per day.

Cam shaft and valve mechanism above cylinder heads.—The design of the above is based on the Mer-cedes, but was improved for automatic lubrication without wasting oil by the Packard Motor Car Co.

Copied From Hall-Scott Motor.
Cam-shaft drive.—The cam-shaft drive was copied almost entirely from the Hall-Scott motor; in fact, several of the gears used in the first sample engines were supplied by the Hall-Scott Motor Car Co. This type of drive is used by Mercedes, Hispano-Suiza, and others.

Angle between cylinders.—In the Liberty the included angle between the cylinders is 45 degrees; in all other existing 12-cylinder engines it is 60 degrees. This feature is new with the Liberty engine, and was adopted for the purpose of bringing each row of cylinders nearer the vertical and closer together, so as to save width and head resistance. By the narrow angle greater strength is given to the crank case and vibraion is reduced.

Electric generator and ignition. A Delco ignition system is used. It was especially designed for the Lib-erty engine to save weight and to meet the special conditions due to firing 12 cylinders with an included angle of 45 degrees.

Pistons.—The pistons of the Liberty engine are of Hall-Scott design. Connecting Rods—Forked or straddle-type connecting rods, first used on the French De Dion car and on the Cadillac motor car in this country, are used. Crank Shaft-Crank shaft design followed the standard 12-cylinder practice, except as to oiling. Crank ase follows standard practice. The 45-degree angle and the flange loca-tion on the cylinders made possible a very strong box section

The Lubricating Method Lubrication-The first system of lubrication followed the German practice of using one pump to keep the crank case empty, delivering into an outside reservoir, and another pump to force oil under pressure to the main crank shaft bearings. This the main crank shaft bearings. This lubrication system also followed the German practice in allowing the overflow in the main bearings to travel out the face of the crank checks to a scupper which collected this excess for crank-pin lubrication. This is very economical in the use of oil and is still the standard German practice.

The present system is similar to the first practice, except that the oil, while under pressure, is not only fed to main bearings but through holes inside of crank cheeks to crank pins, instead of feeding these crank pins through scuppers. The difference between the two oiling systems consists of carrying oil for the crank pins through a hole inside the crank cheek instead of up the outside face of the crank cheek.

Propeller Hub—The Hall-Scott propeller-hub design was adapted to the power of the Libert cars.

Packard Type Water Pump.
Water Pump—The Packard type of water pump was adapted to the Lib-

Carburetor—A carburetor was developed by the Zenith company for the Liberty engine.

Bore and Stroke—The bore and Fore and Stroke—The bore and stroke of the Liberty engine is 5 by 7 inches, the same as the Hall-Scott A-5 and A-7 engines, and as in the Hall-Scott 12-cylinder engine.

Remarks.—The idea of developing Liberty engines of 4, 6, 8, and 12 cylinders with the above characteristics.

istics was first thought of about May 25, 1917. The idea was developed it. conference with representatives of the British and French missions. May 28 to June 1, and was submitted in the form of sketches at a joint in the form of sketches at a joint meeting of the Aircraft (Production) Board and the Jollet Army and Navy Technical Board, June 4. The first sample was an eight-cylinder model, delivered to the Bureau of Standards July 3, 1817. The eight-cylinder model, however, was never put into production, (as advices from France indicated that demands for increased production, ( as advices from France indicated that demands for increased power would make the eight-cylinder model obsolete before it could be would make the eight-cylinder produced.

Work was then concentrated on the 12-cylinder engine, and one of the experimental engines passed the 56-hour test August 25, 1917.

After the preliminary drawings were made, engineers from the lead-ing engine builders were brought to the Bureau of Standards, where they inspected the new designs and made inspected the new designs and made suggestions, most of which were in-corporated in the final design. At the same time expert production men were making suggestions that would the Packard, Ford, Cadillac, Lincoln,

The Liberty 12-cylinder engine committee met at frequent intervals, passed the 50-hour test, showing, as the official report of August 25, 1917, the final development of the Liberty records "that the fundamental con-struction is such that very satisfactory service with a long life and high watches and Diamonds; easy payments order of efficiency will be given by Leftis Bros. & Co., 2d fl. 308 N. that.—Adv.

Thrift Does More

Than Build Bank Accounts

Thrift builds character and determination—it develops your ability to map out a program and see it through. It produces self-confidence.

Thrift would be worth while even if your savings had to be hidden away where they would earn nothing and be subject to loss by fire or theft. But, when you can obtain absolute safety and 3% interest by depositing in this strong National Bank, can you—or could you even in a debating match—advance sone single argument why you shouldn't save?

Think it over carefully: The more hard think-ing on this subject the more Commerce savings accounts—because there is no sound argument against thrift.

IGNORANCE-The State or local IGNORANCE—The State or local Board of Health has the right to commit insane persons to the Asylum without proceedings in court. The Probate Court acts only when property is involved and its action is for the protection of property and only incidentally in protection of the person. From immemorial times the practice has been to commit insane persons to asylums without the formality of trial or hearing in court, and this is justified as an exercise of the State's police power and as a meas-SISTER.—To send a letter to a member of the U. Under no circumstances should the location of a military organization be included. asylums without the formatity of trial or hearing in court, and this is justified as an exercise of the State's police power and as a measure of public policy. This information comes from Associate City Counselor Charles P. Williams, an authority on the subject. A special article written by him for the Central Law Journal contains references to all decisions on the subject of the insane person's rights in this connection. It is Mr. Williams' contention that an insane person, without property, can have a day in court only in the event that he brings action for false imprisonment, if committed to asylum without a hearing. Puzzling question of professional ethics was presented by an attorney whose former client had been committed to an asylum for insane but who considered himself entirely competent and insisted that he was being illegally restrained. He frequently asked his attorney to ald him in securing his release. The attorney has no doubt of his insanity and knows of no justifiable ground to aid him. The client's physical and mental condition to believe the attorney would aid him "and consequently both physician and members of the incompetent's family importuned the lawyer to secure his release." The lawyer asked whether he should refuse to humor his client and yield to the importunities." The committee answered: "However laudable the physician's proposal may appear from a medical point of view, N. Counsel for Wisconsin Senator Before Senate Committee Asserts Address Was "Highly Patriotic."

REITERATES CHARGES ONCERNING LUSITANIA

ttorney Roe States Proof Bryan Made Statements He Denied Can Be Supplied if Requested.

WASHINGTON, May 22.-The charge of the Minnesota Public Safecharge of the Minnesota Public Safety Commission that his speech delivered at St. Paul eight months ago was seditious and disloyal, was declared baseless by Senator LaFoilette of Wasconsin, through counsel, before the Senate Privileges and Elections Committee, yesterday, Gilbert E. Roe, the Senator's attorney, asserted that the speech was y, asserted that the speech was y patriotic and came clearly n the rights of the Senator to ake. He said press reports and the inscript furnished by the Minneso-make. He said press reports and the transcript furnished by the Minnesota Commission were garbied.

"Displeasing to Many."

"It is no doubt true that the sentiments expressed in the speech are displeasing to many persons and many interests," he added, "but the charge that it contains anything disloyal or seditious or anything that a United States Senator, or for that matter, any citizen, might not properly say is gortesquiely absurd."

Among the statements in the speech, the accuracy of which has been questioned, was one declaring that Secretary Bryan had warned President Wilson that the Lusitania, before sailing on her last trip, carnied explosives, and had suggested that passengers should not be allewed to sail on her. Bryan has dealed the statement. A brief submitted by Roe reiterated it and said if its accuracy is questioned, the Sentied would be glad to "submit detailed proof of the facts."

No Senator, the brief says, has "eyer been attacked and assailed by war party and a war-mad press as senator La Fellette had been attacked even grior to the St. Paul speech."

After submitting his brief Roe became reading the speech, stopping to discuss parts of it which have been the subject of attack.

Misquoted, Roe Declares.

"Whether Senator La Follette was right or wrong," he said, "he had a right to supress them precisely as any Senator or any other citizen has a right to supress them precisely as any Senator or any other citizen has a right to supress his views upon the sume question.

"It is true that all the newspapers" question.

"It is true that all the newspapers of the country served by the Associated Press the day after the speech entirely misquoted Senator La Follette, as proved by the record, and made him say the very opposite of what he really said concerning our grievances against Germany which led to the war. It is true that this falsehood has been repeated and multiplied during all the months that have since elapsed and has been country. Through all this Senator La Follette has remained silent."

(The record of the Senate Committee shows that the La Follette absech has been under consideration eight months and that the Associated Press of the St. Paul speech, so far as the record shows, has never been challenged before).

Says Retoris Were Distorted. "Even if Senator La Follette had said the things he is charged with saying, he would have been entirely within his rights." Roe continued. "It is only by distorting the impromptu retorts of Senator La Follettes to the interruptions from the audience, into a complete discussion of the intricate causes of the war, that anything can be found in the speech to which the most zealous partisans of the administration can object.

"But under any construction pos-'It is true that all the newspaper approach to an improper discussion of the war.

"There never was a more baseless attack made upon the character and reputation of a public man than that made, upon Senator La Follette by the filing of the charges in question.

"I respectfully submit that this honorable committee should promptly report said charges to be fully unfounded."

The copy of the speech as furnished to the committee, Roe said, was incorrect. "but not as greatly laporrect as that carried by the Press Bureaus."

Send St. Louis Soldiers Smokes he Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Out here, over 2000 miles from home, the Eighth Division of the United States Army. We are stationed at Camp Fre-mont, named after Thomas Hart Benton's on-in-law, 30 miles from San Francisco, midway between the ocean and San Francisco Bay. Lying at the foothills of the

And just last week we got several hundred new drafted boys from St. Louis, who came those long, weary miles, and asked after they got here where they were. And they came from your town, from my town, St. Louis, all the way out here to learn how to fight for you and for me.

Kiev, the capital. The people have refused to deliver up their grain for export to Germany, and very little has been obtained by the process of requisition.

The excuse put forth by the Central Powers for the invasion of the Ukraine republic after peace had been declared was that the country was in disorder. Under the guise of police officers, an Austro-German army marched in, and German soldiers took charge of the Rade which was all

PROHIBITION BY DECREE.

The effort of the drys in the House to compel hibition by depriving the beer and wine makers of raw materials is the extreme of arrogance and

An appropriation for promoting food produc tion was made contingent upon the President's issuing a proclamation forbidding the use of fruits, food and feed materials for the making of malt or vinuous liquors for beverage purposes.

The measure is an indirect method of arriving at complete national prohibition, but in effect it means absolute prohibition. So far as the period of the war is congerned it would make the adoption of the constitutional prohibition amendment unnecessary. It would stop the manufacture of all alcoholic beverages and, in the opinion of some Congressmen, of soft beverages made of grain or

The insolence of this method of attempting to force exdent or to people of fair minds.

The prohibitionists have won in all reasonable legislation providing for prohibition. The manufacture and importation of distilled liquors have ceased under legal prohibition. The constitutional amendment providing for nation-wide prohibition is before the State Legislatures for mt ification. The soldiers and sailors are protected by stringent laws and regulations. The percentage of alcohol in beer is being reduced.

soldiers took charge of the Rada, which was already pro-German, and arrested some of its members in their seats. This, however, caused a reaction and Germany attempted to make reparation for the indignity.

The war, which finds its songs or makes them, has found and remade that virile American lyric beginning, "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

This song, in time past, has been the abhorrence of college presidents, who have objected to its suggestion of ribaldry, and chiefly to the incidental word "hell" in the second and final line. Yet the objectionable thing in the song was not so much the "hell" as it was the "What do we care?" A body of young men, students or soldiers in particular, should care, and care very much, about some definite thing. They should not make a boast of mere indifference.

This was clearly understood by the latest revisers of the song, who have supplied the objective which the song needed, and have at the same time removed the distasteful word. As the men in In charge of Production Division, U. S.

That is fine. There is just one improvement still possible, and that improvement will be made when America's army, marching down the Unter den Linden in Berlin, sings triumphantly, "Hail, hail, the gang's all here; we've come to get the Kaser now."

OUR GROWING BATTLE PORCES.

Two hundred thousand soldiers to France May; 250,000 more in June approximately half a million troops to be added to the more than half million reported to be there! A new American field army of 200,000 already mobilised "over there" in addition to the men brigaded with the British and French!

And only a few weeks ago Col. George Harvey was putting his biting, ironical style through all its paces in forecasting the miserable showing the

> The probability that around one million American soldiers will be in Europe by Independence day makes us feel like the amateur players whose inevitable despair on dress rehearsal night gives place to elation when the first act of the opening performance is going well. The piece is not finished yet, but we are doing so much better than we had any idea we could do that there is no restraining our gratification.

The news of our unexpected progress came of May 21. This was the precise end of the 60-day period in which German prophets predicted the last great offensive would end in a complete and crushing triumph for the German arms.

The Kaiser watched the Kemmel Hill battle through a scissors telescope, whatever that is The point is that he was so far behind the lin that he had to use a telescope.

KILL THE PARK MINE BILL. Mayor Kiel has wisely decided to veto the bill embodying a contract with the Highland Clay Co. to mine clay under Forest Park if it is not reconsidered and defeated by the Board of Aldermen.

It is not necessary to believe all the statements and charges that have been made to see a possibility of damage to the park. As the heritage of the people of the city set aside as a vacation ground and beautiful breathing place for their benefit, the park should be held sacred for that purpose and should therefore be given the benefit of every doubt as to the con-ed soldiers that came straight from Jefferson Barracks here.

What I am going to beg for is cigarettes and tobacco for our 500 St. Louis and Missouri boys here at Fremont. Please send me all the cigarettes and tobacco you can. Never have you St. Louisans refused any-body anything yet in this war, from what I read in the paper the Chamber of Commerce got out. Send me cigarettes and tobacco, so I can take my little official pass, which will take me anywhere in this camp, and I can go to the casual camp, where those lonely, homesick boys are to be for three long weeks, and my "Here I am, boys. The Board of Aldermen should reconsider the bill. The majority of the board is in better position now to judge the merits of the measure than when it was pushed through without hearing. No chances should be taken with Forest Park.

SPEAKING WELL OF OUR ENEMIES. "The Germans have robbed us of the power to speak well of them," said Capt. Vickers of the British service in a speech at a St. Louis Red Cross meeting.

Kill the bill.

This is a robbery which we cannot view without regret. To speak ill of an enemy just because he is an enemy is human nature, but we feel its uselessness and impotence. Adjectives win no wars despite the habitual use made of them during wars. Hopelessly antagonistic as are the aims with which allies and Germans fight, the vast distance between them would not of itself have robbed us of the privilege of speaking well of Germans. We may believe that the representative fighter for democracy would be chivalrous enough to recognize the qualities of a gengrous and fair foe. But Potsdam is a contemptible enemy, not only because of the aims for which it fights but for the sneaking methods with which it fights. It is not merely the natural prejudice against an enemy which forces this conviction. We were a neutral for nearly ance between the two sets of belligerents was continuously impressed on us as a part of patriotism. ASHINGTON—Please don't think of the sals and slaves ar.r-r-r-o-o-u-u-u-n-n-n-d-d him, dear reader. The much greater chance is that he is working down here in what was formerly the bathroom of some historic household. If all that district in St. Louis which lies between Twelfth street and Grand avenue were suddenly taken over for offices in some such emergency as the war has occasioned, we would have there a situation like that in Washington' now. Some great captain of industry whose name is familiar to everybody and whose offices in Dayton or some other place have been illustrated in the art journals would be found serving his country over a hird store on Olive street, or holding down a plain oden table in the name of democracy over in what was formerly the maid's room on the third floor of the old Gen. Frost house. Nothing is thought of that sort of thing down here. It is so much less than our boys are putting up with in discomfort and changed environment that nobody minds. One is for a while startled on first coming here at finding the man who made one's automobile, or whose shaving soap one has used for years in such surroundings; but one gets used to it. Everything is at any rate immaculate enough. More than one-third of the population of Washington is colored, and there is no scarcity in the sort of help that makes everything shine.

Col. Boosevelt's career seems to be pretty much the same inspiration to politicians that Napoleon's career has been' to Generals. For some reason one never hears one of Mr. McAdoo's admirers, for instance, say that he ought to campaign like Mr. Wilson, whereas it is pretty freely predicted that if the methods of Cel. Roosevelt are employed success is certain. What nobody says but probably most people feel is that Mr. Wilson's feats, which have been chiefly intellectual, are beyond most people; whereas those of the Colonel aren't. Those things in which the Colonel was purely picturesque are, of course, inimitable; but there is no reason, so I am told, why anyone with the gift of gab and ability to get around over the country until he has met pretty nearly everybody should not benefit by what the Colonel has done. Students of politics are at school in Washington every day. There is more analysis of success in public life than one hears anywhere else in the country. Almost anyone can tell you who the strong men in public life are, and what makes them strong. We don't talk of those things much anywhere else. Washington does. It is Wash-

I am told that the House is much better organised these days than the Senate, whereas the reverse is usually true. That is why the Senate gets out of hand once in a while and the House never does. Senator Martin of Virginia is the Democratic leader in the ate. It is said that an occasional revolt on the floor does not bother him in the least. Things that tor Aldrich, who was for so long the Republican leader, never permitted to happen are frequent. That is why nobody could say last week how the vote on the Chamberlain resolution might go. As it turned out, the administration had nothing to fear; but the leaders on that side were not able to advance that nos. Senator Martin is not an aggressive floor leader of the sort that routs opponents in debate, as it is felt that Benator Underwood could be, and as many floor leaders have been. He merely gets things

Watson, Harding and New, an aggressive minority trio not above partisanship at any old time; some of it is due to Senator Lodge, who knows more about stirring up the rantankerous element in the majority than anyone else; and not a little of it due to our own Senator Reed, who adopts the attitude of a prosecutor in the Senate rather than that of a statesman and can much less often be banked on to stand hitched than to start something. A man who has been familiar with the Senate for many years tells me the disposition to say something on everything that comes up, whether knowing anything about it or not, is much more general than he has ever known it to be.

There has been some speculation as to the compara-tive showing to be made by the American army in Europe. We want to make our prediction that when the war is over the world will say there has never been anything like it. The American army has what America and not other country has—that is, pep. when the dictionaries were compiled. We don't know that we could tell the rest of the world just what it is. However, it will find out. We imagine the Germans will be crazy about it. It has it on efficiency that far. The American army, moreover, is fighting solely for an ideal, and has only that ideal to gain. Something of what that means is indicated in the old saving that he is thrice armed whose cause is just. We are not saving it is that many times, but it is there or thereabouts. Very well. The American army has in it, in addition, about all the fine fighting blood history hag known. It is a blend of them all the only real thoroughbred army that ever stepped out to measure itself with one of the old stocks. It will bring home the bacon.

The Kaiser was watching one of Mr. Ford's little doodle-bugs running around in No-Man's Land shooting everything up. "Why don't we stop that thing?" he asked.

"It is not easy to stop a Ford, your Majesty," a member of the General Staff answered. "However, we will go over and pick up the man who cranked it. We'll find him exhausted."

Bainbridge Colby, who is afraid the dispute between the British and Germans over what a ton is has probably mystified us, says the submarines sent down from ten to twelve millfon tons of shipping last year, our count.

The Kaiser, who hoped to live in history with Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar and Napoleon Bonaparte, has only succeeded after nineteen centuries in providing a co-star for the Emperor Nero. . .

An expert on bees says we ought to know more about their food economies. It wouldn't hurt us to know more about their industry, either.

It looks as if Mr. Wilson had entered Mr. Hughes in the next presidential race for the Republicans in an airplane.

It was probably a surprise to George Creel to learn that Congress reads what anybody says about it. -The Kaiser says it will be quite plain in time who caused the war. We know now. The military genius who eats his dinner in Berlin will have to take it with him.

Dempsey-Miske Bout Held Up; Title Pretender's Ring Future Stymied by "Barber" Reisler

MILWAUKEE, May 22.-Attempts to rematch Billy Miske of St. Paul and Jack Dempsey of Salt Lake for a return 10-round, no-decision contest at Milwaukee, Wis., have been held up by the activity of John Reisler, the New York barber who owns a contract on the services of the newest heavyweight fight hope.

Tom Andrews, who cons the good ship boxing-but not the public-in Wisconsin, has decreed that until Dempsey proves he is not legally bound to Reisler by the document referred to, he cannot appear in any ring under control of the Badger State Boxing Commission.

ST. LOUIS FOST-DISPATCH

The proposed contest figures to yield a $25,000 "gate," and Dempsey is being held out of an $8000 share of this sum. Furthermore, it is doubtful if he will fight anywhere in the future un-til the contract is explained to the satisfaction of some court and the case decided on its merit. In the meanwhile Dempsey's deferred classification not distantly defe, red and his call threatens to end his ring activities, if the Court does not.

Titl's chronicle of alternating heat and showers is the history of the season; it has been the preliminary to all our bumper crops of the past. In Southern Kannsa, harvest is expected to begin by the 10th of June; a very early date. Meantime, the conr crop is coming up under favorable auspices as far North as Iowa and Illinois, and the cotton crop has shared in the auspicious growing weather.

"The Iron Age, in its review of the steel trade's week, draws the positive inference that the rta of output from the mills thus far in May indicates the largest recorded rate of annual production, both for pig iron and steel. Nevertheless, it sees no escape from the conclusion that little steel can be had for ordinary consumption this year, if all of the War Board's requisitions, as laid down to the manufacturers this past week, are to be filled in the stipulated period.

The deduction as to output is in lise with last Saturday5s estimate by the Evening Post's Pittsburg correspondent that steel production this month has been running at an annual rate of 44,000,000 to 45,000,000 tons, webreas only a little over 42,000,000 were produced in 1917, and 41,400,000 it years before.

"Weather, and to what extent the day's uncertain movement of the railiway presidents over actual optration of their coads would be transferred to a new office, designated as Federal Manager, is merely a matter of consecutive. The reasonable inference is that on practically every road, the new office will be filled by the incumbent of the old one; only he will, so to speak, wear the Federal uniform under his new title.

"No doubt the theoretical possibility of abuse or favoritism would exist but it is hardly a probability, and in any case, the power existed before, as well as after the promulgation of last night's order by the Federal Railway Administration.
